IN SOUTH AFRICA.

The Operations Are Once
More Active.

Boers And British Are Meeting
In Brisk Engagements.

The Failure Of Negotiations Has Stimulated The Strife.

LONDON, March 26, 2:00 A. M.—The official casualty list, as given out last evening, indicates that active operations have been renewed in South Africa since the failure of the negotiations between Lord Kitchener and General Botha. At Hartbeestfontein, on March 23rd and 24th, two officers were killed and five wounded and four men killed and twenty wounded. There was also heavy fighting near Gredgepoort on the 18th and Venterdorp on the 19th. Venterdorp, where Delarey was defeated, is about twenty five miles north-east of Hartbeestfontein, so it is possible that the fighting referred to at these places may mean the engagement with Delarey. The Pretoria correspondent of the Standard says it is obvious that it will be many months before Boer resistance can be crushed. The Amsterdam correspondent of the Express says it is reported there that Mr. Kruger has urged President Schalk-Burger to formulate terms of peace.

Babington Fights Delarey.

LONDON, March 25.—The war office has received the following report from Lord Kitchener:

PRETORIA—Babington's force attacked Delarey's, fifteen hundred strong, south-west of Venterdorp, and having defeated him, followed him rapidly. The Boer rear guard was driven in and its convoy and guns were captured at Vaal Bank. Our troops showed great gallantry and dash. They took two six-pounders, one pom-pom, six Maxim's, three hundred rounds of big ammunition, 15,000 rounds of small ammunition, sixty rifles and 140 prisoners. The Boers had many killed and wounded. Our losses were slight.

Boers Lost Heavily.

CAPE TOWN, March 25.—It is said that the Boers lost very heavily in attacking the garrison at Litchenburg last week. Upwards of seventy burghers were shot dead in one spot, in the wire entanglements.

EX SHERIFF LEAVITT DEAD.

NEWMARKET, N. H., March 25.—Nathan H. Leavitt, a well known lawyer, died here this afternoon. He had been ill for a year and his mind was affected. He had been a representative to the legislature and sheriff of Rockingham county. He had filled several town offices, at one time being selectman. Mr. Leavitt was sixty years old and leaves a widow and a daughter.

SUSPECTED ANARCHISTS ARRESTED.

LONDON, March 25.—"Several suspected anarchists, garbed as monks, were arrested while the procession escorting the duke and duchess of Cornwall was passing through the streets, today," says a despatch to the Daily Mail from Malta, dated Monday.

MISSIONARY STUDENTS KILLED.

LONDON, March 26, 2:00 A. M.—At Intschuan, Corea, collisions have occurred between the people and the missionary students, according to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail, and several students were killed.

TO ENFORCE SETTLEMENT.

GIBRALTAR, March 25.—The cruiser New York is ready to sail tomorrow for Magazan, on the coast of Morocco, where she will remain until the United States consul general has secured an adjustment of the claims against the Moroccan government.

TORNADO AT BIRMINGHAM.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 25.—Twelve persons were killed and probably double that number wounded in a tornado which swept through the residence section of this city this forenoon at ten o'clock. The property loss is estimated at $100,000.

It Struck Sandusky.

TOLEDO, O., March 25.—Reports received here say that a terrific tornado struck the outskirts of Sandusky, wrecking many houses and doing other damage.

A Bad Report.

KANSAS CITY, March 25.—A despatch to the general offices of the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis railroad, received at three o'clock this afternoon, from the agent of the railroad at Birmingham says that up to the time the message was sent, fifty bodies had been recovered at Irondale, which is described as having been completely wrecked by a cyclone.

Small Village Hit Hard.

DETROIT, March 24.—A special to the Tribune from Kalamazoo says that a cyclone swept over the small town of Pavilion, twenty-five miles southeast of Kalamazoo, wrecking a number of houses, uprooting trees, tearing down telegraph poles and causing much other damage. One woman who was ill in a house that was struck is reported fatally injured and many other persons were hurt.

MURDERED AT THE FERRY.

TIEN TSIN, March 25.—It is reported that Rev. J. Stonehouse, the agent of the London Missionary society, who was announced yesterday having been killed by brigands fourteen miles east of here, was murdered at a ferry on the Hon-ho river, while he was distributing relief to the starving villagers.

Great Britain Urged To Prevent It.

LONDON, March 25.—The Chinese minister here called at the foreign office this afternoon and urged that British pressure be brought to bear to prevent Russia from securing the necessary signatures to the Manchurian agreement. The foreign office is still in the dark as to whether the agreement will be signed or allowed to lay over until its time lapses, which will be on March 26th. The officials of the Japanese legation are inclined to believe that Russia will get the necessary signatures.

STRIKES A RICH FIND.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run-down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Globe Grocery Co.

MILITARY VS. WORKMEN.

LONDON, March 25.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail wires that a collision occurred there on Sunday between the military and factory hands. There was much bloodshed and many arrests were made.

TRAIN BLOWN FROM TRACK.

COLUMBUS, O., March 25.—A mixed train was blown from the track of the Central Georgia railroad, one mile east of Buena Vista, late this afternoon. Nobody was killed, but four of the crew were injured.

NOBODY KNOWS WHY.

SAN JUAN, P. R., March 25.—The Mayflower sailed for Navassa, on the coast of Hayti, this afternoon, according to orders from Washington. No information as to her errand is obtainable.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Forecast for New England: Rain and warmer Thursday, fresh to brisk southeast winds; Wednesday clearing.

PICKUPS AT RANDOM.

THE South Ward room is again ready for occupancy, having been battered extensively throughout by industrial workmen. The walls have been whitened and all the woodwork painted, the upper hall has been frescoed and new floors have been laid. The two lower rooms have been so arranged as to admit kindergartens and thus remove some of the pressure from the other kindergarten departments of the city. These improvements in the ward room were not carried out a day too soon, for the building was fast going to decay.

The most important change in the new code of fish and game laws enacted by the legislature makes it unlawful to dispose by sale of woodcock and partridges. Sportsmen look upon this as a severe blow at the market hunter, who in recent years has had the cream of game bird shooting in New Hampshire while the sportsman has had to put up with the leavings. The pot fisherman also receives a staggering blow in that the sale of brook trout is prohibited. There is nothing in the laws to prevent a person from securing the services of an angler to procure for him a mess of trout for his table, but the marketing of fish, as well as that of woodcock and partridge, is tabooed.

The state now has a superior court and on April 9th, the new court will be officially formed and be ready for business. The appointment of the judges seems to have met with favorable comment on all sides, although many admit that it was their expectation to see Justice Frank N. Parsons of Franklin appointed as chief justice of the new judiciary body. He is considered by a large majority of the profession as being the most impartial judge on the bench.

Local railroad men have been much interested in Dr. Webb's record-breaking railroad trip from San Francisco to New York. Dr. Webb's special left San Francisco Wednesday morning, coming across the continent in seventy-nine hours, beating all previous records by a little more than four hours. Every preparation had been made to give him the best locomotives, the newest engines and a clear track.

People concerned in affairs at this navy yard will be interested to know that at present 1030 men are employed in the construction department at the Charlestown, Mass., yard. The Charlestown Enterprise of last Saturday has an article a column and a half long, setting forth the busy condition at that station, in comparison with the state of things there not so very long ago.

JURORS DRAWN.

The drawing of jurors for the April term of the supreme court took place at the city clerk's office on Monday evening, with the following result:

Grand—ward one, Frederick Watkins; ward two, John Wood.

Petit—ward one, Valentine Hoff, Charles F. Harley; ward two, Stephen Decatur, Robert L. Ellery; ward three, Wilmore T. Wombley; ward four, Caleb N. Lord; ward five, Dennis Trevelyan.

THE CLARA BATEMAN SOLD.

The old tug Clara Bateman, which sank inside the Noble's island bridge several years ago and has been lying there ever since, has been bought by a Portsmouth dealer in old metal. It is to be raised and broken up and sold for scrap iron and firewood.

REBEKAH SALE OPENS.

Fair In Odd Fellows' Hall Draws A Large Crowd.

The two days' sale of Union lodge of Rebekahs opened in Odd Fellows' hall on Monday evening. The large crowd present augured well for the eventual success of the affair. Bountifully decorated booths on both sides of the hall displayed manifold things to tempt the eye and ear and the patronage was most generous.

The flower table was laden with cut flowers and Easter lilies, which attracted much attention and admiration. Green was the prevailing tone in the decoration. The table was presided over by Mrs. Agnes Brown and Miss Hattie Caswell.

The candy booth was decorated in white and red and was in charge of Miss Spinney, Mrs. Stringer and Miss Choate.

The art table had colorings of pink, green and white and was looked after by Mrs. Annie Kennison and Miss Lizzie Johnson.

In charge of the lemonade booth was Miss Celia Ordway. It did a rushing business all the evening.

At the handkerchief table, (decorated in pink and white) were Mrs. Kiernan, Miss Roland, Miss Carrie Brown, Miss Georgia Webster and Mrs. Klump. Red and white were the tints that brightened up the "mystery" table, which was in charge of Mrs. Cloutman. The apron booth was under the care of Mrs. Trafton and Mrs. Hilton.

An entertaining programme was rendered during the evening, as follows:

Piano Solo, Mrs. Kiernan Song, Mrs. Percy Frye "The Magic Mirror," a tableau. Mrs. George Leighton Mrs. Percy Frye Song, Mrs. George Leighton

The fair will close this (Tuesday) evening. It looks as if the Rebekahs would clear a pretty sum from it.

PART OF CARGO SAVED.

Halibut Taken Off The Wrecked Schooner Eliza B. Campbell.

The schooner Eliza B. Campbell, which grounded on Duck island, has been stripped. Most of her cargo of 40,000 pounds (about three-fourths) of halibut was successfully taken off by the fishing schooner A. O. Newhall and carried to Gloucester. The schooner's gear was also saved. The Campbell is still fast on the rocks. An attempt to float her will be made at the earliest favorable opportunity. At low water she is high and dry.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

AT THE NAVY YARD.

Civil Engineer John Walker of New Castle was a visitor to the yard on Monday.

Seven men in the shipwrights gang have been laid off on account of lack of work.

Col. Berryman will have a fine command ready for the Memorial day parade.

About two hundred workmen were off duty on Monday on account of the Kittery election.

The rifle range at Eliot, Me., will be used, commencing with the first of April, by thirty marines daily.

George C. Peirce of Portland, Me., has reported for duty as clerk to the board of inspection, department of supplies and accounts.

The naval band will commence out of door playing in about a week. The band will play at the marine barracks for drill and parade three times a week.

The announcement in Monday's Herald of the examination for the positions of master laborer and master joiner was the topic for conversation among the workmen.

BASKET BALL.

The Delapoon and Wattawamat basket ball teams took a trip to York on Monday evening, and gave the people of that town a fast exposition of this popular indoor game. The result was in doubt up to the very last moment of play, and although victory fell to the lot of the Wattawamats, they had no reason to doubt that they had been in a basket ball game.

Owing to the small size of the hall, the play was rougher than would otherwise have been the case.

The summary of the game follows:

WATTAWAMATS	DELAPOONS
Forbes	forwards	Miller
Prime	centre	Farrington
Stackpole	back	Pickett
Newick	back	Peyser
Conner	back	Griffin

Goals from field, Forbes 6, Prime 3, Conner 1, Stackpole 1, Miller 2, Farrington 2, Peyser 2, Griffin 1. Score, Wattawamats 22, Delapoons 14.

An informal dance followed the game, the music for which was furnished by Miss Irma F. Wells of this city.

CHARMING LITTLE PARTY.

Charles, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Sawyer, Columbia street, entertained a dozen of his neighborhood friends on Monday afternoon, in celebration of the eighth anniversary of his birth. It was a charming little party. The guests enjoyed every minute of their stay, with diversions dear to childish hearts and a supper just suited to their appetites. In the center of the tea table was the birthday cake, a fine one, contributed by Frank, son of Hon. and Mrs. Charles P. Berry. Eight pinkies also graced the board. On the frosted top of the cake was an appropriate inscription. Others of the company brought gifts in the shape of fruit and flowers. Mrs. Horace Sawyer of Lynn, Mass., was present to enjoy the merriment of her youthful grandson and his playmates.

The boys and girls who shared in the hospitality of the day were as follows: Nellie, Mamie and Nora Buckley, Evelyn and Alice Baratto, Blanche Wholey, Harold and Ray Shaw, Earl Hackett, Harry Freeman, Bradley Rutledge and Frank Berry.

It was not strictly an invitation affair, as the latchstring was out to any of the little lost's associates who might choose to come.

SPORTING NOTES.

The Unity Club and Company B basket ball team will probably meet again in the near future.

The organization of the country club in this city, will undoubtedly have a most beneficial effect upon both golf and tennis.

The international ice yacht race, Saturday, between boats from Canada and the United States, was an easy victory for the Canadians.

The local bare ball season has already begun in a small way and the cranks still insist that the prospects for good sport are excellent.

The base ball season began Saturday, when Princeton defeated Rutgers, 21 to 1, and Annapolis took the University of Maryland into camp, 18 to 4.

The Ottawa A. C. hockey team has earned the right to claim the championship of the American continent. Friday evening the Canadians defeated the New York A. J. 3 to 1, and Saturday evening won from the All-New York team, 5 to 1.

Dartmouth is highly indignant over the attitude of the Williams' base ball management, which insists that all games between the teams of the two colleges, this season, be played at Williamstown. Dartmouth considers this position a most unsportsmanlike one, and with good reason.

SPOKE AT PEIRCE HALL.

The Baron deGinsburg spoke at Peirce hall on Monday evening, in the interests of the Boer cause. He had an audience which nearly filled the place and accorded him good attention. This should be qualified by saying that a number of small boys were present for the sole cause of raising a rumpus and disturbing the baron. Four of them were collared by the police officer on duty and taken to the station.

IMPORTANT NAVAL CHANGES.

Capt. F. W. Dickens has been assigned to the command of the cruiser Brooklyn, on the Asiatic station, relieving Capt. C. M. Thomas, and the latter has been transferred to the command of the Oregon.

SUPREME IN ITS BEAUTY PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION TO BE A MAGNIFICENT SURPRISE.

Birdseye View of the Great Group of Splendid Architectural Works—A Wonderful Setting of Fountains, Pools, Plants and Flowers.

It is promised for the Pan-American Exposition that it will surpass in beauty any previous exposition in the world's history. It is also expected that it will outlive its predecessors in many other ways, for at no time have such wondrous achievements in art, such perfection in the hundreds of trades, been attained. But the purpose of this article is to treat, in a general way, of the plan of the Exposition, the symmetry of arrangement and the exterior beauty that represents the careful expenditure of several millions of dollars. Accompanying this article is a birdseye view of the Exposition plot, showing the magnificent work in its complete state. The view is from the south and shows an area one mile and a quarter long and half a mile wide, there being 350 acres in the inclosure. In the immediate foreground is a portion of Delaware Park, one of the famous beauty spots of Buffalo. The view shows the Park Lake, with the North Bay at the left, and in the left foreground, south of the bay,
may be seen a portion of the Albright Gallery of Art, a beautiful permanent building of white marble, the gift of John J. Albright of Buffalo, and costing over $400,000. North of the Bay is the New York State Building, also a permanent structure of marble. These two buildings are in the style of Greek temples, one containing reminders of the Parthenon and the other resembling somewhat the Erechtheum upon the Acropolis at Athens.

Between the North Bay and the Lake
the City of Buffalo has built at large expense a new and beautiful bridge of heavy masonry, known as the Bridge of the Three Americas. This bridge carries the broad thoroughfare which leads from the main southern entrance to the approaches of the Exposition, as seen in the foreground just north of the Lake. On the northern shore of the Lake is situated the life saving station erected by the Federal Government where daily exhibitions will be given by a crew of ten men showing the uses of modern life saving apparatus as employed upon our coasts. Hidden from view, upon the southern bank of the Lake, a beautiful casino and bathhouse has also been built by the City of Buffalo for Exposition uses.

The symmetrical grouping of buildings will be at once noted by the observer. Beginning at the formal approach, just north of the Lake, the eye follows northward between two rows of ornamental columns to what is known as the Forecourt. East of this are the State and Foreign buildings, forming in themselves a very interesting feature of the Exposition. Near these also are the buildings for the special ordnance displays representing the products of several hundred manufacturers in this line of work. West of the Forecourt will be the outdoor horticultural displays and the Women's building. We cross now the Triumphal Bridge, which will be remarkable for its tall piers, richly ornamented with statuary, the product of the genius of Karl Bitter, the director of sculpture, and other famous sculptors. On either side are the Mirror Lakes which form a part of the Grand Canal, more than a mile in length, which surrounds the main group of buildings.

We come next to the Esplanade, which is nearly two-fifths of a mile long and 450 feet wide. The western end of the Esplanade is inclosed by the Horticulture, Graphic Arts and Mines buildings. The eastern end is shut in by the Government group of three large buildings. Sunken gardens with elaborate fountains and many groups of sculpture occupy the two arms of the Esplanade, and the decorative features throughout this broad space are very numerous and beautiful. North of the Esplanade is the Court of Fountains, with the Ethnology building on the right and the Music building on the left. Two subordinate courts also open into the Esplanade from the north, the one on the right being known as the Court of Cypress and the one on the left as the Court of Lilies. Next, north of the Ethnology building on the right and fronting upon the Court of Fountains, is the Manufactures and Liberal Arts building and on the opposite side the Machinery and Transportation building. In the Court of Fountains is a large pool, having an area of about two acres and containing many beautiful fountains. Proceeding again northward we come to the Mall, a broad avenue, half a mile long, extending from the eastern boundary to the western gate of the Exposition. Fronting upon the Mall on the right is the Agriculture building and on the left the Electricity building.
We now arrive at the most conspicuous feature of the Exposition, the massive Electric Tower, 391 feet in height.
This tower stands between the Court of Fountains and the Plaza, in a broad pool, about two acres in extent.
This will be the most ornamental feature of the great Exposition and will be the centerpiece for special and elaborate electrical illumination. Immediately north of the Electric Tower is the Plaza, with its beautiful sunken garden and handstand in the center, the Propylaea or monumental entrances at the north, the entrance to the Stadium on the east and the entrance to the Midway on the west.

It should be understood by every intending visitor that the Exposition will present the most beautiful spectacle that twentieth century genius can provide. By day there will be a most pleasing display of floral and fountain effects. The many buildings, with their elaborate and delicate tracery of ornamental plastic work and their radiance of color, the many groups of statuary in every part of the grounds, will constitute a picture never before paralleled.

At night all the buildings will glow with the soft radiance of thousands of electric lights, making a scene of unrivalled brilliance and splendor. Half a million lamps will be used in the electrical illumination.

It should also be added that the Midway at the Exposition will be the most extensive and novel that has ever been prepared. It will be 3,000 feet long, having more than a mile of frontage.
Over 20 very interesting features, many of them covering several acres, will make up this gigantic collection of wonders.

The athletic features of the Exposition will be shown in the Stadium, which covers about ten acres of ground and contains a seating capacity for more than 12,000 people. All of the exhibit buildings will be filled to complicity with the very latest products of Pan-American genius and industry and will offer an opportunity for every inquiring mind to learn a most interesting lesson of New World progress and civilization.

The power for Exposition uses is furnished principally by Niagara Falls, which are situated only a few minutes ride from the Exposition grounds. Buffalo is a city of nearly 400,000 population and is preparing in every possible way for the reception of millions of visitors in 1901. MARK BENNETT.

MAMMOTH TURBINES.

Six New Ones For the Niagara Falls Power Company.

A new feature of much interest has been added to the delights Pan-American crowds will have when they visit Niagara Falls to view the scenic and industrial attractions there. In that favored spot there is already developed more power than is used in many of the large cities, but to this developed force must be added 30,000 horsepower that is to be developed by means of six new turbines and six new generators, the contracts for which have been awarded. These new turbines are to be installed in the new wheel pit now in course of construction. The design of the new turbines will differ materially from the design of those now in use in the present wheel pit.
This change is significant of the fact that the Niagara Falls Power Company intends that the installation in its new plant shall be up to the highest state of perfection known in this opening year of the century. It is this knowledge that at Niagara the most modern, the most perfect working power development in the world, may be seen that will inspire visitors to the Exposition to go there and look upon the wonders that man has wrought.

Each of the six new turbines will have a capacity of 5,000 horsepower, and each will be connected to and drive a 5,000 horsepower generator.
The turbines now in use were designed by Piccard, Pietet & Co. of Geneva, Switzerland, while the new turbines are to be built after designs prepared by Escher, Wyss & Co. of Zurich, Switzerland, the plans of which company were accepted in a competition.
The turbines in the old pit each have two wheels, while the new turbines are each to have but a single wheel.

With these new turbines in place in the wheel pit, the output capacity of the Niagara Falls Power company will be 80,000 horsepower. There will be space in the new pit for five additional turbines, each of 5,000 horsepower capacity, and with these in place the total output of the two pits will be 105,000 horsepower.

ORRIN E. DUNLAP.

COURTSHIPS OF FAMOUS MEN.

Sheridan's Romantic Wooing of Beautiful Betty Linley.

No man ever had a more romantic wooing than Richard Brinsley Sheridan when he determined to make Miss Linley, the beautiful "Nightingale of Bath," his wife. She counted her suitors by the score, but Sheridan's romantic devotion won her heart. He disguised himself as a coachman merely to have the pleasure of driving her. He escorted her to a French nursery to rescue her from the persecutions of an odious wooer, with whom he fought two duels in her behalf.
And this was but a type of the chival-rous adventures which ultimately enabled him to lead her to the altar in April, 1773.

His second wooing was just as persistent. When Sheridan first met the beautiful daughter of the dean of Winchester, he was a middle aged man and anything but personally fascinating. Miss Ogley could not bear the sight of him and called him "an odious creature" and "a ridiculous brute," but within a short time she was glad to give her hand and heart to the "most fascinating man in England and a husband of whom any girl might be proud."

It was Mrs. Lewis rather than Disraeli who did the wooing, for she made no concealment of her admiration for the rising statesman and pursued him with attentions which in a younger woman would have been indecent. And yet the "dowdy widow" succeeded where mere youth and beauty would certainly have failed, for who can resist the worship of a woman?
And she succeeded by a lifelong devotion in winning her husband's heart as well as his gratitude.

Mr. Gladstone's wooing was much more conventional and ceremonious, and might be expected. It was over a dinner table that Miss Glynn caught her first glimpse of the young man to whom she was to devote her life. "Do you see that young man?" a statesman who was sitting next to her said. "Some day he will be prime minister of England."

No wonder the young girl's interest was aroused; and when, in the winter following, they met again in the lovers' land of Italy, what wonder that the wooing proceeded apace and that the foundation of one of the most beautiful married lives in history was laid.

HABITS OF WILD TURKEYS.

Practical Hints to Hunters About the
"Wit of the Woods."

Indians call the wild turkey the "wit of the woods." It is the most difficult of game to approach. The most scientific method of killing it is to call it. It is its cry. This is most efficacious in the spring, when the gobblers all to the hens incessantly in the early morning and at intervals all through the day. The sound may be either a love note or a challenge to a mate. In either case, if well done by the hunter, it will prove effective in bringing the bird near its hidden lair.

The best turkey call is made of the wing bone. Sometimes it consists only of a bit of slate and a smoothed twig. The twig when drawn across the slate gives a wonderful imitation of the bird's "cheep."
To call successfully requires long practice.
Some men become so expert that they can imitate a broad leaf held between the thumb and applied to the lips. The "challenge call" is made in this way.

The gobbler tries hard to prevent the hen nesting. He wants all of her time and attention. He must have an audience for his strutting. After many attempts to escape and more than one beating she will suddenly go violently lame, with a broken wing and a queer leg. This is a favorite trick of gallinaceous females. The gobbler does it often to lure marauders from her young. The gobbler has no use at all for a lame wife. After prancing around her for a little while and savagely striking her with his wing he hies himself away into deepest woods, heart whole and happy.

His patient spouse then makes her nest in peace. Her foes are active, and she needs all of her wonderful power of secretiveness. Crows and snakes are fond of her eggs. The crow, if he discovers the nest, will wait until the mother vacates it in search of water and food and then carry away the eggs one at a time. While nesting the hens many times fall victims to foxes, wild cats, leopard cats, lynxes or coyotes.

The brood when hatched must be guarded at first of all from the parent gobbler. If he finds it, he will decapitate the chicks
one after another with his strong beak.
This is jealousy. Caught in an open space by a hovering hawk the chicks, at the sound of a peculiar cluck, will stretch themselves upon the ground as if dead, while the mother does not stir. The hawk will not eat dead flesh that he thinks is carion. At a signal from the hidden mother the little ones rise and scamper to her. The hawk is then out of sight.

Some of the things a wild turkey does smack of the reasoning faculty. For instance, a hen will never tread upon the same ground in approaching her nest. She fears to make a path. The ability of the birds to discover danger can hardly be due wholly to sight, phenomenal as it is. Possibly they have a sixth sense. A turkey will detect the movement of a finger 100 yards away. Perfect stillness is the hunter's only chance. Some of them declare that they are afraid to wink one eyelash.
As a table bird the wild turkey is much superior to its domesticated brother, especially when baked in the ground and steamed to rights in its own royal juices.

The Cause of Her Anger.

"Men are the most brutal creatures,"
said the young wife to her feminine friend.
"What makes you think so?"

"The way my husband treated me this afternoon."

"What did he do?"

"He came home from the office, and in the first place he kissed me, and"—

"He ought to be ashamed!"

"Oh, it isn't that, of course. But pretty soon he mentioned casually that he saw Mrs. Dawkins this afternoon and that she had on a beautiful new dress. And then he—what do you suppose he did?"

"I can't guess. What is it?"

"Went to talking about something else."

"One brute!"

"Yes, and I'll die before I will ask him, but"

"So would I."

But she asked him the very next morning at breakfast, and when he said he believed it was some sort of a green or blue, or possibly brown, with yellow or gray trimmings—he was not certain which—
and a sash, she said a woman might as well talk with a Pigi islander as with her husband for all the instructive information she would obtain from him.

And her husband was surprised to notice that she seemed almost angry about something or other.—Denver Times.

Italian Regard For Animals.

Not long ago I was a passenger on one of the lake steamers which ply between Desenzano and Riva. It was a day of wild wind and driving rain. As I sat in the passage of a peculiarly truculent type came on board, clad in the shaggy cloak of the district and bearing a vast blue umbrella no less indigenous. With him, too, he brought his donkey. Now, even Italian steamers do not knowingly admit quadru-peds of this size to the shelter of the fore cabin, though possibly if they did no great harm would be done or sentiment violated. The beast, therefore, was tethered on the open deck and thus became exposed to the fury of wind and weather, not to mention wave. A British peasant would probably have accepted the situation and let him hide. Not so the Lombard.

Instantly divesting himself of his ample overcoat, he spread it carefully over the "lower animals," back, and, unfurling his voluminous umbrella, held that patiently over the astirine head (and his own) all the way to Riva. Now, here, surely, was a good man, merciful to his beast.—London Times.

Indians and Bears.

The greatest bear country in the southwest is the Navajo Indian reservation, where the bears are never hunted and may live, multiply and grow old in peace, says
the San Francisco Call. The Navajo believes that brul is a sacred animal, and they will never kill or consent to have one killed except under one circumstance.

This is when a bear has killed a red man and the identity of the culprit is as well established as that of the victim. Then, being led by their medicine men, half the tribe will gather at brul's doorway, humbly beg his pardon for what is about to happen and pray to his shade, not to look for vengeance. This done, one or two warriors will boldly penetrate the cave and kill the bear, which is then accorded a decent burial.

How It Originated.

Diggs—I wonder who first introduced the custom of eating fish on Friday?

Biggs—Robinson Crusoe, I believe.

Diggs—Why, how could that be?

Biggs—Robinson and his man Friday were playing a game of "old maid" one day, with the understanding that the loser was to supply a morsel of fish for dinner.

Robinson won the game, so the fish were
on Friday.—Chicago News.

CJURIOUS NEW YORK TRADE.

Wild Animal Broker Who Imports a Variety of Animals.

New York's queerest occupation is perhaps that of the wild animal brokers.
A great many men support themselves by such work. It requires little capital and experience and brings immediate returns. These brokers make it their business to meet all incoming steamers which hail from the countries which export wild animals of any kind. There is scarcely one of these ships but carries something of a menagerie. The special shipments of animals are of course consigned directly to the big dealers. The animal brokers deal with the sailors.

A surprising variety of animals are usually found in the sailors' quarters.
The seamen have learned that they may turn an honest dollar by buying or trading them from the natives in foreign parts. They bring monkeys, parrots and rare birds, sometimes lion or tiger cubs, curious tropical snakes and other easily handled stock. In a large crew the stock is often considerable. The wild animal broker comes to an understanding with the sailors and buys their stock.

There are of course tricks in all trades.
The broker must know the exact market value of each animal and be able to judge its condition. The animal broker then finds a market for his stock among the wild animal stores and wholesale dealers of the city. There is a certain well known department store which buys a large portion of its stock in this way. Sometimes the broker can greatly increase the value of his stock by keeping it for a time and carefully feeding and grooming it.

SLEEPING IN THE DARK.

Pain Seems Easier to Bear When the Sufferer Has Light.

All who have suffered from toothache know to their sorrow that the pains increase as the night grows older. A toothache which during the day interfered but little with our enjoyment of life is likely to develop during the hours of darkness into a veritable terror, that makes us curse the accident of our birth. It is the same with an earache, asthmatic troubles, etc. Asthma is most likely to develop into a smothering nightmare between the hours of 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.

At the Vienna university Dr. Goldscheider has told the reason in a paper read before his class. He thinks the darkness prevailing in the average bedroom is at fault. Light, he says, plays a greater part in the pathology of aches than most people imagine. Those are, generally speaking, the healthiest members of the human family who live in sunlight, well aired rooms and who move about in the sun as much as practicable.

If in daytime we are stricken with pain,
our sufferings are certainly less, relatively speaking, than they would be if the midday had seized us at night, for light and sunshine soothe our feelings and do not allow us to abandon ourselves to the feeling of pain.

When night comes, the painful sensations increase. They are horrible as long as we are in the gas or lamplight, but become intense the moment we stretch out in bed, enveloped by stillness and darkness. A lessening of the pain is observable only after sunrise.

"What does it mean?" asks the doctor.
"That darkness and stillness are not conducive to the comfort of sick people.
Therefore I say, if you have pains in the evening, do not rob yourself of the soothing effects of a lamp. In ninety-nine out of a hundred cases the presence of a light in the sickroom alleviates pain."

"For the same reasons do not let your children sleep in the dark if they prefer a light. The denial of a night light has made children ill with heart disease. If nurses refuse to sleep in the dark, it may be assumed that there is some physical or mental reason for it which we ought to respect."

"From the above rules nervous people are exempt. Some of them absolutely refuse to find rest until all is quiet and dark about them. I have found that in cases of migraine, a neuralgia pain in one side of the head, nothing would do but to place the patient in an absolutely dark and still room, if possible at the top of the house. I advise that people suffering from sick headaches should interrupt their day's work and take themselves for a quarter of an hour to a darkened room for quiet against noises. Nature has put two great remedies in our hands—light and darkness. Sufferers should find out for themselves which best agrees with them."

SWELL GAMING.

It Is Carried on With Great Luxury
in New York.

The place where society gambles in New York is a few steps west of Madison square
—a fine old mansion, entered after a short flight of brownstone.

The utmost caution prevails, and the warder at the gates of this anteroom of purgatorio scans every applicant with the practiced glance of the gambler's Cerberus, bowing obsequiously or thrusting the applicant back beyond the pale.

Within, the brilliancy of the place quite stagers after the density of the night.
There is an odor of gentility, even solemnity, prevailing, and in the silence through the rift in the hall of voices comes the whirr of the marble bounding against the ceaseless roulette wheel, the patter of chips and the low drone of the dealers.

Over various games young men and old,
almost all in evening dress, are bent in deep interest, like doctors at a clinic.
They one and all bear the aspect of men to whom the loss or gain of a few hundred dollars is an episode entailing no economies in defeat, calling for no extravagances in the smile of fortune. Many smoke, their perfectos lifting a fragrant incense before this shrine of the red devil, while a few, weary of play perhaps,
withdraw to a cozy nook to discuss the latest London fad or avenue scandal, retail a hot nut or con the proxy stocks.

At one end of a thickly carpeted chamber there stands a broad table with shining marble and sparkling glass offering bounties that would tempt an upstart even in a satiated moment. The lighter wines and liquors are on free draft, and occasionally, when there enters a little company of young revelers given to more than liberal excess, a quiet mannered man seen wandering among his guests gives a signal, and champagne flows generously.—Cristerion.

Medical Wit.

"Where is the pain?" asked the physician.

"Oh, I don't know, doctor!" groaned the patient. "It hurts so I can't tell where it is!"

"Just so," said the doctor, proceeding to fill a small vial from a larger one. "It's a someone who knows where his aches,"

POSITIVE PROOF.

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Portsmouth.

Because it's evidence in Portsmouth,
it's from a citizen, perhaps a neighbor,
investigation will confirm it.
Mr. Charles Kennedy, of 25 Gates street says: "A few years ago I was laid up with rheumatism for over two months so that I could not get out of the house. I never regained my former strength and my kidneys are apt to be come sluggish. During the winter I was taken with a very lame back, and the constant ache made me miserable. I was so sore over my kidneys that I could hardly pick up anything from the floor, and twinges caught me in the back that were excruciating. I went to Philbrick's pharmacy on Congress street for Doan's Kidney Pills; after I had commenced to use them I gradually grew better till the lame ness and soreness entirely disappeared."

TUESDAY, MARCH 26, 1901.

A New York newspaper has offered $2 for every short colloquy. Here is where you have a chance to talk to yourself for money, if you are funny enough to amuse someone else.

The sale of postage has almost exhausted the supply and the government printing must be worked overtime to keep up the supply. About everybody seems to be so prosperous that they can't stop writing and telling other people about it.

It is said that the coon song and ragtime music are in harmony with the general prosperity and simply reflects the buoyant feeling of the times. Long live the coon song and ragtime and the conditions that make them popular. "My Money Never Gives Out" sounds better in the rattle of a tin dipper at a free house.

The Pan-American bureau of public affairs says that the correspondent of a well known publication writes as follows in regard to the trolley service of Buffalo: "The best looking street cars in America, by all odds, are those used by the Buffalo railway companies. They are the handsomest, the biggest, they run easier and are kept cleaner than anywhere else. I know pretty well what I am talking about, for I have been an observer in every place worth being in." All of which is "important, if true," says a writer in the Boston Herald, and suggests to us the thought that, while we are trumpeting about Buffalo next summer, the best thing we can take for "that tired feeling" will be one of those wonderfully soothing street cars.

The new system of slavery that has, let us hope, come to an end in South Carolina had been in existence about five years, says the Boston Herald. J. S. Fowler, the man who originated it, says he had no idea it was illegal. It grew out of the application to him by negroes in jail to pay their fines or take them out on bond. To secure himself, he made them sign an ironclad bond, and put them to work with the convicts he hired from the state. For a debt of $50 he would work a negro for a year, feeding and clothing him. The officers of the law in the county were all aware of his methods, but nobody suggested that it was illegal. Others, seeing what he was doing, undertook something similar. They got negroes from the jails to work for them, charged them for board and clothes, and established lines for the payment of petty rules, building up thus a system of servitude from which the victim never could escape. Then charges of crime were trumped up against negroes, who in fear were induced to "compromise" by signing a contract which committed them to the new slavery. Later, they began seizing negroes for debt, and thrusting them and their families into the stockades, upon contracts which permitted leasing them separately to be worked. The practice of seizing for debt grew so common, although imprisonment for debt is illegal, that house servants in the town of Anderson were kidnapped without notice to their employers. In short, a system had grown up hardly more humane or moral than the old slavery. That the men who engaged in it, and their neighbors, believed they had a legal right to do so is incredible. That they believed it to be morally right is even more incredible. They found it profitable, and did it.

NEWFIELDS.

NEWFIELDS, March 24. Many of our citizens employed at the Portsmouth navy yard passed Sunday at their homes in town.

Mrs. N. W. P. Smith and Mrs. George W. Paul have returned from a recent visit to Washington, D. C.

Several improvements have been made by the recently appointed highway agent, Edward A. Hanson, about town. Many washouts were made by the heavy rains of the past two weeks.

The schools will begin the spring term on Monday, April 1, with the same teachers in charge as last term, the only change going into effect will be the reopening of the primary department which has been closed during the past year.

The boiler shop connected with the Walter B. Grant Co. will, according to current rumors, resume operations in about three weeks. This department of the company was the source of employment to a large number of men during the thriving days of the Swamscott Machine Co. and will undoubtedly be a timely requisite in the town's business circles.

Capt. U. E. Stottle, U. S. A., instructor in military tactics at New Hampshire college, delivered a lecture at the Unitarian church last Friday evening on "Personal Reminiscences of the Apache." His talk was highly interesting, composed of many thrilling stories and amusing incidents occurring during the four years he was stationed as a government agent among that tribe.

GONE TO BIDDEFORD.

Baron de Ginzburg, the Boer, Will Be There Until Next Saturday.

Baron de Ginzburg, the Boer, who has delivered several lectures here on the South African situation, left this morning for Biddeford, where he will remain until Saturday.

At the lecture in Peirce hall on Monday evening, the baron received $42 for the cause of his people. The money, the baron stated, would be sent to Boston tonight. The expenses in Portsmouth, he told a Herald reporter, were $17.

He is very grateful to the people here, he said, and especially to the newspapers. The boys who were arrested at Peirce hall for disturbing the meeting were released this morning, by request of the baron, who had no ill feelings against them.

TAKEN FOR A ROGUE.

Comedian Francis Wilson's Experience in a London Jeweler's store.

Francis Wilson, the actor, despite the regular roles he assumes on the stage, enjoys the reputation of being an accomplished gentleman of refined tastes and excellent habits, as well as an industrious student and the possessor of one of the best libraries in the country. When he is able to escape from the exhausting demands of his profession, he is usually to be found with his wife and children at his luxurious home in New Rochelle, Conn. Recently, however, he made a brief visit to the old world, from which he is accustomed to return with a collection of curios and presents for his friends.

In the course of one of his visits to London he had an experience which has afforded him a considerable amusement. While walking along Regent street one day with an old acquaintance he saw some diamonds displayed in the window of a jeweler's shop. He looked at them critically for several moments, then turning to his companion he said:

"I have just received an unexpected check for $500 and I don't think I can employ it to better advantage than by buying some diamonds for my wife. Let us go in."

Wilson and his friend then entered the shop. The proprietor presented himself and asked what they desired.

"You have a 'ray of diamonds' in this window," said the little comedian. "Will you let me see them?"

The stolid faced shopkeeper surveyed his prospective customer from head to foot. He saw a sharp featured little man with long nose and headlike eyes. Despite the fact that his face was clean shaven, myriads of indomitable beard roots gave to his visage that peculiar bluish tint that Theophrastus folks are wont to effect in their make up.

"Do you want to buy or only to look at them?" asked the suspicious Briton slyly.

"Depends altogether upon how they please me," returned the comedian. "I certainly will not purchase unless I am first permitted to examine them."

The shopman left his place behind the counter and walking to the door quietly opened it.

"I've had that same trick played on me once before," he said as he again surveyed his visitor critically. "I'm a bit wiser now."

"And at least $100 poorer to boot," observed the comedian as he left the shop.

Wilson's demands were supplied a few minutes later, however, by a jeweler on the opposite side of the street—Atlantic Constitution.

A WOMAN'S NO.

To That Was Due the Attempted Assassination of Alexander II.

People were much surprised when the name of Beresowski, the Pole who attempted the assassination of Czar Alexander II during his visit to Paris at the time of the exhibition of 1887, was found figuring on a list of persons for whom an amnesty was asked at a recent sitting of the chamber, for the man's existence had been practically forgotten by the public, and the great majority would probably have replied if questioned on the subject that he was dead. As a matter of fact Beresowski has been languishing all these years in New Caledonia. He has become insane, so that his release would now be of no earthly benefit to him. This is a very interesting case, and some information given by the officials at the ministry of the colonies is worth repeating. It is the old story of "Cherchez la femme." Beresowski, then barely 19 years of age, was a workman in a factory, when he fell desperately in love with the foreman's daughter. His suit was refused at the very moment when the Emperor Alexander was here, and, beside himself with passion and disappointment, he resolved on suicide.

But he thought him that he might as well sell his life dearly, and he seized the opportunity of the czar's presence in Paris to attempt to kill him.

So if Beresowski had not been crossed in love the shot would never have been fired, and the political events which followed might have taken a very different turn. The Pole has never given any trouble to his custodians in the remote colony. He was himself useful, and his last came casier. Besides, his presence had fellow countrymen forwarded to him from time to time letters and newspapers, but he took little notice of them. Beresowski's insanity is of a harmless kind. He imagines that he has discovered the secret of perpetual motion. Now, with his long, white locks and emaciated features, he looks quite an old man, though he is no more than 48 years of age.—London Letter.

A Botanical Freak.

One of the curiosities of nature is known as a plant atol. There are but two or three of these known to scientists. This atol is made up of a circle of growing plants. They are found floating on the top of ponds or lakes. They form a hoop shaped figure and are closely matted together at the roots, which make a sort of cup or basin. The water inside is less vegetable matter falls or floats. There is a sufficient amount of nutriment in this to keep the plant growing. As it increases, the roots become longer and larger, and in time the plant may anchor itself in the soil at the bottom of the pond. These rings, after many years of accumulation and growth, make what appear to be small islands. It is the opinion of certain scientists that islands may have been formed in this manner. The roots catch all floating seeds or animal matter. Leaves collect and form mold, and after awhile birds may drop plant or tree seeds on the little pod that floats on the top of the water. These take root and further assist in the growth of the little island. It may take centuries for the plant to come to any size, but with nature a thousand years are but as yesterday.—New York Ledger.

A Famous Document.

The missal sent by Leo X. to Henry VIII, together with the parchment conferring upon him the title "Defender of the Faith," was bought a number of years ago for $50,000 by the German government. The missal and parchment had been given by Charles II to the ancestor of the famous Duke of Hamilton, and the library of this nobleman was sold at auction in London, where the government of Germany bid up the book beyond the reach of all other bidders. Bank of England notes are made from new white linen cuttings, never from anything that has been worn. So carefully is the paper prepared that even the number of alphas into the pulp made by each workman is registered on a dial by machinery.

Detectives detailed to look after shoplifters, pickpockets and "professionals" of that class always look to see if their suspects are wearing gloves. A "professional" it is declared, never works with his gloves on.

THE OLD BLUE LAWS.

SOME THAT ARE STILL ON THE STATUTE BOOKS OF NEW JERSEY.

Reasons Why, Though Out of Date, They Have Never Been Repealed—Things It Is Unlawful to Do on Sundays—Can't Kiss Your Sweetheart on the Street.

Jersey is the bluest state in the Union, probably not even excepting Georgia, Delaware or Connecticut, if one judges by its laws. Not only have the famous blue laws never been repealed, but an examination of the records of her police magistrates shows that they are still in operation.

Common scolds are still liable to fine and if persistent may be imprisoned and possibly subjected to a good, old fashioned ducking. Blasphemy and profanity are still penalized, and only recently in Elizabeth a young man was arrested and fined $2 for kissing his sweetheart on the street. The girl acknowledged the young fellow as her true and only love, and that she had allowed herself to be kissed, believing it to be quite proper. The magistrate said, "Not in Elizabeth."

In Newark there used to be a chain stretched each Sunday morning across Clinton avenue on the Springfield road, where it was called. An officer of the town staid guard and allowed no vehicles to pass except they were bound for church or some mission of mercy or great necessity. The money and necessity had to be explained to the entire satisfaction of the chainkeeper before he would say, "Pass on."

Jersey offers slight encouragement to golfers. Time and again has a sanatorium justice of the peace warned would be desecrated that the jail yawned for them.

Orange had something of a sensation on account of the willingness of certain tennis players who persisted in playing on Sunday. They said they had no other day to devote to the game. Six days they worked hard in the city, and on the seventh they were qualified to enjoy rest. Rest for them explicitly implied recreation.

The magistrate told them that in Orange all recreation was unseemly on the Lord's day. The community, he said, was God fearing, and would not tolerate levity or irreverence. If they wished to play tennis on Sunday, they must go elsewhere, and to enforce this suggestion upon their minds he fined them each $3.

Swearing has got men into trouble time and again. It costs 50 cents to swear in Hackensack on Sunday if an officer of the law is nigh. So all over the state. If the profanity was elaborate, the magistrate will go sometimes as high as $5, though technically this would appear contrary to the wording of the statutes.

Football on Sunday is expressly forbidden, as are all nuptials, bowls and quoits; so is the merry game of five, which somewhat in this day to have fallen into innocuous desuetude.

According to the general statutes of the state of New Jersey for 1895, under "vice and immorality," it is declared not lawful to fish with a hook or with a net on the Lord's day. Hunting is forbidden; nor may one fire off a gun for joy or for any other reason. Work is forbidden except such as is absolutely necessary for the charity, which must be patent to the officer of the law. To cast a seine or draw one or to make use of one in any way is vicious and immoral. Driving is not to be done. Especially are draymen, drovers, carters, wagoners and butchers to beware of unseemly acts such as driving sheep, cattle or any animals.

It is further stated that "whereas public shows and exhibitions of divers kinds have of late been very frequent within the state, whereby many strangers and worthless persons have unjustly gained and taken to themselves the money of the people, and it being found that such shows and exhibitions tend to no good or useful purpose in society, but, on the contrary, to gather together great numbers of idle and unsavory spectators as well as children and serve to corrupt their morals, such shows and exhibitions are forbidden."

These laws, which were approved by the state legislature as recently as March 27, 1874, expressly provide that liquor shall not be sold within three miles of a church, and that milk shall not be peddled Sunday mornings; neither shall any newspapers be issued. The words are, "It is unlawful to print or sell newspapers and milk on the morning of the Lord's day."

Folk should not be on the streets later than 10 o'clock in the evening without such good and sufficient cause as will justify the act in the eyes of the magistrate. Amusements are not good cause, nor is courtship. Witches are to be put to death and drunkards into the stocks.

Monopolies and corners were not more popular in 1600 than now, for "cornering" merchandise is expressly prohibited. It was unlawful to buy up commodities in order to raise the price more than was justly due. The marked price of liquor and other necessities was established by the selectmen. Violation of the scale marked by them meant loss of license and $4 fine.

Public sentiment in New Jersey does not take the blue laws very seriously. They have not been repealed, because they are thought to make for good rather than for evil, and indeed to come in handy at times. Sunday in Hackensack, in Bogota and similar rural districts is still strictly observed, and the blue laws are well adapted to the intelligence and the religious views of such communities. There has not been serious discussion for repeal of these laws nor plea on their behalf. They are not as much as possible to be called on in case of emergency, but otherwise they are neglected.—New York Press.

Clever Smoke Device.

The Japanese have a curious way of clearing railroad tunnels of smoke and gases. Each end of the tunnel is provided with a canvas curtain, hung at the top so that when it is dropped it covers the entire mouth of the tunnel. When a train enters the tunnel, the curtain at that end is dropped, and it is kept down until the train leaves the other end of the tunnel. The result is that all the smoke and gases are carried along with the train and forced into the open air at the farther end of the tunnel. It is asserted that this plunger action is so perfect that smoke from an engine seldom reaches as far back as the middle of the train. Scientific men are puzzled to account for the success of the system.—Boston Budget.

Cheerless Outlook.

"There's no comfort in connection with the popular song," remarked one admirer of classical music. "We know that it will not last long."

"We know the reply," "we always have the assurance that there is something more waiting to take its place, if that's any satisfaction."—Washington Star.

CITY BRIEFS

The sap is running. Now the talk's of baseball. The night air still has a snowy chill. Monday was the feast of the Annunciation.

This week starts Lent on its last quarter.

Sportsmen are shooting a lot of wild geese at Great Bay.

Country eggs are bringing eighteen cents per dozen in town.

Sparrows and English swallows have commenced nest building.

Next Friday will be the feast of the Seven Dolours of the Blessed Virgin.

The head of a buffalo will be the central figure of the new ten-dollar note.

The next whist party of the Warner club will be held next Thursday evening.

It is difficult to realize that excellent sleighing still exists in various points in the state.

The steamer Sam Butterfield made its first trip of the season to New Castle on Monday.

The hunter's degree was worked at the meeting of the Red Men on Monday evening.

The A. C. club met with Miss Josephine Aldrich, Middle street, Monday evening.

The brook trout fishing season will open one week from next Monday and close on July 31st.

Arrived, Mar. 26.—Barge No. 16, from Baltimore, with 1600 tons of coal for J. A. and A. W. Walker.

Croup instantly relieved. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Perfectly safe. Never fails. At any drug store.

The streets are getting into pretty good condition for cycling and the wheels are making their appearance in large numbers.

Burdock's Blood Bitters gives a man a clear head, an active brain, a strong, vigorous body—makes him fit for the battle of life.

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church met on Monday evening with Mrs. William Bridle, Richards avenue.

The board of managers of the Home for Aged Women is to have a special meeting this (Tuesday) afternoon, to arrange for their coming May breakfast.

Ten thousand demons gnawing away at one's vitals couldn't be much worse than the tortures of itching piles. Yet there's a cure. Doan's Ointment never fails.

Many members of Damon lodge, No. 9, Knights of Pythias, will go to Portland, Me., on April 13th, to witness the exemplification of the work before the lodges of Maine.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup seems especially adapted to the needs of the children. Pleasant to take; soothing in its influence. It is the remedy of all remedies for every form of throat and lung disease.

The order of Bullfrogs has got into court. A Chicago man tendered a $100 bill in payment for initiation and there was no change coming back, according to the rules of the order. This left $90.89 due him, and he has asked the court to get it for him.

During the winter the Exeter, Hampton & Amesbury street railroad company has greatly improved its terminal buildings at Hampton beach. The casino has been slightly enlarged, and completely remodeled in its exterior. Last week the frame was raised for an opera house, a two story building of 58x118 feet, and very pleasing in its design.

It is announced that the management of the theatre here has secured one performance of Sherlock Holmes. In the near future Chas. Frohman will present the play in this city, and as Sherlock Holmes is undoubtedly the greatest sensation of the theatrical world at present, its coming will cause undoubted interest. The company which is to play the piece in this city are all seen at the Hollis Street Theatre in Boston, where a most remarkable engagement of five weeks to the capacity of the theatre at every performance has just been completed. Sherlock Holmes was written by William Gillette and is founded on Conan Doyle's famous stories. It is predicted that this will prove to be a gala event in the theatrical season in this city.

The clerkship of the United States court in this district will soon be vacant, as the present occupant's term expires. Mr. Barns P. Hodgman does not want to be re-elected. It is not generally known as to who the next clerk will be.

York Harbor already is putting on its summer airs. Not only will William Dean Howells be there, but Lieut. General Nelson A. Miles and family and Thomas Nelson Page are coming. Par Harbor soon will have to look to her laurels.

The entry list for the Detroit grand circuit meeting shows that Maplewood Farm has entered Belle Curry, by Simmona, in the Russell House purse of $2,500 for 2:17 trotters; Artello, by Axel, in the Hotel Cadillac purse of $2,500 for 2:14 trotters; and Elesta, by Dexter Prince, in the famous M. & M. stake of $10,000 for 2:24 trotters.

A York county deputy sheriff's authority for the statement that the authorities who are at work on the Berwick incendiary case can place their hands on the person who made the attempt to burn the building of Charles Coffin in that town last week. It is estimated that an arrest will be made as the conclusion of the fire inquiry, which will be held as soon as Insurance Commissioner Carr can be present. It is said that the arrest will cause a sensation in this section of York county. And York so used to sensations, too!

HELD IN $800.

Octave Pichard, Who Robbed a Boarding House, Goes to Jail in Default.

Octave Pichard, the Exeter man who was arrested in Exeter on Monday afternoon by Superintendent of Police Charles G. Gough, on the request of the Portsmouth police, was arraigned in police court this forenoon, before Judge Emory. Pichard having been brought here from Exeter on Monday by Officer Hilton.

Pichard pleaded guilty to grand larceny. The crime for which the man was arrested is that about two months ago, he stole a gun, razor and a necktie from his roommate, W. W. Roberts at Harry Freeman's, Islington street, and left Portsmouth after converting the articles into money. To the police he admitted the theft, but claimed that it was committed while he was under the influence of liquor.

Pichard arrived in Exeter on Sunday evening and went to work in a shoe factory there on Monday morning and as soon as the police there learned that he was in town they placed him under arrest.

In default of bail he was committed to the Portsmouth jail. He has a wife in Exeter.

Annie Killin, one of the female guests at Mrs. Dumphy's Deer street stockade, was arraigned for being drunk. She made an alleged disclosure and the case was continued until three o'clock in the afternoon. Later she paid a fine of $3 and costs.

NERVOUSNESS AND NERVE.

The more nervous a man is, the less nerve he has. That sounds paradoxical—but it isn't for nerve is stamina.

Hood's Sassaaparilla gives nerve. It cures the whole system, perfects digestion and assimilation, and is therefore the best medicine a nervous person can take.

If you get tired easily, mentally or physically, take it—it will do you good.

DAN RICE, CLOWN.

In this age of biographies and reminiscences, the life of Col. Dan Rice, the world famous clown and showman, by Marie Ward Brown, of Long Beach, N. J., occupies a unique place. This biography makes a volume of nearly six hundred pages, handsomely bound and profusely illustrated, and few stories of life are so replete with such startling and varied personal adventures and incidents. Rice was at the head of his professions and his reminiscences are rich in incidents of a busy life. The regular edition will be ready April 1, and orders and inquiries should be addressed as above.

NEW VOTES STRAGGLE IN

Friends Said in Some Votes for the Contestants.

They Come From All Over the State for Them.

A Number of Small Changes Made in the Column.

There has been a little straggle of voting in the Herald's Pan-American trip vote contest today.

The votes are liable to come from most any part of the country. It is pretty hard work to point out a place on the map of this vicinity that the Herald does not go to, and about every reader seems to be saving votes for somebody, even though the saver has not yet decided who the votes will go for.

There are several little changes today as a result of the voting:

Harold N. Holt, Portsmouth Bicycle club, 507

John F. Leary, A. O. H., 445

Dennis J. Lynch, Kearsarge Engine Co., 339

Col. John P. Tibbells, Gen. Gilman Marston command, U. V. U., 315

Charles W. Hancoc, K. G. E., 279

William S. Fernald, Chemical Engine Co. No. 5, 183

Charles D. Varrell, Sagamore S. F. E. Co., 67

Charles H. Kehoe, M. H. Goodrich Co., 66

John Ham, W. J. Sampson, H. & L. Co., 21

Fred Mansen, M. H. Goodrich Co., 17

W. J. Kehoe, P. O. C., 16

Capt. Horace E. Pevery, Co. B, N. H. N. G., 12

John A. Harmon, assistant engineer, P. F. D., 12

Edwin F. Rowe, Warner club

George Jones, Kearsarge Engine Co., 7

The conditions of the contest are as follows, a most liberal offer:

The Portsmouth Herald agrees to send three residents of Portsmouth, who are either members of the Portsmouth fire department, a social club or of some secret society, to the Pan-American exposition, pay all their expenses from the time they leave, until they return, including a week in Buffalo, with board and lodging and admission to the exposition daily.

This offer beats anything ever announced by any newspaper in New England, and is so far above the expense and interest of a trip to the national inauguration that it cannot be mentioned in the same class.

The contest will not be restricted to gentlemen but will be open to any lady who is a member of the various secret societies or auxiliary societies in Portsmouth.

The trip will include stop over privileges en route and returning and first class accommodations will be provided. In order that every detail of the grand tour may be properly looked after, the publishers will either send an agent in advance or with the party to make arrangements.

Everybody knows that the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo is to be grander and greater in every way than the World's fair and the visit will be the event of a lifetime.

The contest opened on Monday, March 4, when the first ballot appeared and which will appear daily until June 1, next, the last ballot to appear on the latter date, and the three persons having the greatest number of votes will have the grand privilege that has been offered. The last ballots must be received at the Herald office by 7:30 p. m., on Wednesday June 5, and the results of the contest will be announced at the earliest possible date.

This is an opportunity never before equalled in this section of the country and well worth the attention of everyone eligible for such a trip. Vote early and vote often. Elect yourself.

HIS DEATH A SHOCK.

N. Holt Leavitt of Newmarket, Insane, Kills Himself.

He Was One of the Best Men That Ever Lived, Too.

Visited Portsmouth Every Few Weeks and Was Liked by Everybody.

(Special to the Herald.)

NEWMARKET, March 26.—Nathan Holt Leavitt, one of the best known citizens of the county, committed suicide by hanging Monday afternoon at his home near the depot. Mr. Leavitt has been in ill health for the last year and has been confined to his home for the last two months.

His wife was spending the afternoon with her daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Willey, and upon her return about 6 o'clock found him hanging from a crossbeam in the woods. He had evidently stood on a chair while he adjusted the rope and then kicked the chair from under him.

Mrs. Leavitt called Michael Griffin, who cut the body down, but life was extinct.

Dr. Greene was immediately called and said the man has been dead several hours, which statement is borne out by the fact that a frier d called at the house early in the afternoon and was unable to arouse anybody.

Mr. Leavitt was at one time very prominent in democratic political circles; has served the town as selectman, representative and a member of the school board. He was at one time a member of the state democratic central committee and was appointed sheriff of Rockingham county, which office he resigned.

Mr. Leavitt was well known throughout the State as a dealer in carriages and during the last few years had been employed by the States and Union of Portsmouth.

He was about 68 years of age and leaves a widow and one daughter. He was a member of Pioneer lodge, K. of P., and of Swanscot lodge of Odd Fellows.

The news of the sad death of Mr. Leavitt was a complete shock to his many friends here. He has been in the habit of visiting here every few weeks on business for the past few years and was one of the best men in the world; good hearted, honest, strictly temperate and a friend to everybody.
